Dear Tammy Boggs:

The Selectron VoicePermits system is comprised of proprietary software specifically tailored to provide services for the City's building and planning department. The supporting software code is part of Selectron's proprietary, intellectual property and is considered trade secret.

No other party is capable of performing the various maintenance responsibilities including code corrections, product updates, and technical support as we would not release the source code to any non-Selectron organization. Therefore, Selectron is the only organization who can provide maintenance services on the software in question.

In addition, no other party is authorized to provide additional capacity or hardware upgrades for our product in the United States.

If there are any further questions or concerns, or if we may be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact.

Best regards,
